Trolley Rage

Passengers at City Airport were startled yesterday by the sight of customs officers wrestling with three fully laden trolleys and their accompanying holidaymakers.

Dawn Steed said, "My sons and I had already waited half an hour at passport control, and then over an hour for our suitcases to come through. When customs stopped us and asked us to open our bags, we just flipped."

They then attempted to use their trolleys as battering rams to charge their way past officials, but to no avail.

A union official said later, "We sincerely hope that the passengers involved will be prosecuted."

Decide if each statement below (A) agrees, (B) disagrees or (C) does not say.

Tick the letter of the correct answer: A, B or C.

- 34 Mrs Steed's suitcases had been sent to the wrong airport.
